CONCLUSIONS DENIED.

But when he goes further, and, taking as his precedent the action of the Chinese Government in past instances, where the lives of American citizens, and their property in China, have been endangered, and argues a reciprocal obligation on the part of the United States to indemnify the Chinese subjects who suffered at Rock Springs, it becomes necessary to meet his argument, and to deny most emphatically the conclusions he seeks to draw as to the existence of such liability, and the right of the Chinese Government to insist upon it. I draw the attention of Congress to the latter part of the note of the Secretary of State of February 18, 1886, in reply to the Chinese Minister's representations, and to invite special consideration of the cogent reasons by which he reaches the conclusion that whilst the United States Government is under no obligation whether by the express terms of its treaty with China, or the priciples of international law,

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE. The recent message of the President to he Senate amounts to this-that he holds he Senate possesses neither power nor right to inquire into the motives actuating him in removing or suspending from office. For, he maintains, the power to remove, supersede and supplant is one vested in the sons that move him to action are private and privileged, and as much right is given him to ask the Senate for its reasons for remore force than oral communications which it would be absurd for the Senate to demand disclosed." The President makes a strong point when he asks, "What would the Senate have done had I destroyed the without offense or violation of law, or infringement of the right of the Senate?" To this the Senate replies: "This issue is not between this body and the President. It demands papers on file in a department created by law. The President interferes to prevent access to them, and thereby invades a Senatorial prerogative. By filing locuments with a Department Secretary, holding under a statute and amenable to the law-making power, they become official, and all official papers the Senate is entitled to inspect. This is the issue as we anderstand it." In one aspect it resemble the case made in the time of President Johnson, but there is lacking the element of political bitterness that characterized hat celebrated issue. Unquestionably there are two sides having strength in the present instance. In the light of the facts it would appear that by the placing of the ocuments asked for in the department archives, the President lost his case Clearly, had he retained them in hi But the President filed the papers regardpartment, with an executive officer created, not by the Constitution, but by the national Legislature. We do not know of anything of ecord disclosing what Mr. Parnell and his party will be content with. Now that it is looked at coolly, it developes that the Parnellites have carefully avoided declaring just what sort of government they want for Ireland. Neither Mr. Gladston nor the English Parliament can get very near to effective action until the Irish leaders specify what their desires are in the premises. Gladstone has now fairly committed himself to a plan-but it is impossible to say whether it meets the Irish leaders' view or not. From this distance the Gladstone offer appears liberal, broad and about all that it can be expected the Absolute commercial control of Ireland it 20 per cent. on first and second-class freight, reducing the former from $1 25 to

NOTES OF THE DAY.

A potato of the Salt Lake variety was cut pen yesterday at the home of J. W. Knapp, on Eleventh street, preparatory to cooking, when a ground nut was found em-pedded in the flesh of the potato near the center, in as fresh a condition and with the ootato around it as white as if the receptale for it had just been scolloped out with a knife. The nut was about as large as a Mormonism in Alabama. There was not the least appearance nat the two growths had come in contac nd the potato grown around the nut. The atter lay in clear, white flesh, and therefore presents quite a query as to the opera-tions of nature through which it became appropriated by the potato.

A CHICAGONIAN ON HIGH LICENSE. EDS. RECORD-UNION: I came from Chiago on the 8th of February, where we have high license. I reside in that city. I SIMMONS ce by a letter in your evening paper in thi city that some one says concerning high license that "the system if carried out will never have the effect that sincerely good people hope for from it, and any one familiar with the facts can tell them so." In Chicago we have tried high license, and i works well. It did shut up the lowes dives. It did not shut up the decent saloons. Out of nearly 4,000 saloons (I have not the exact figures at command), it closed up about 600. I never heard of it closing a genuine corner grocery. It adds annuall to our city's revenue about a milion and an eighth of dollars. In our city the best saloons ow strongly favor high license. On La Salle street, within two blocks of my residence, there were eleven saloons before produced last night for the first time in America. It was put on the stage by the management of the American Opera, in excellent style. The scene is laid in India, A few years ago the study of American financiers was how to bring greenbacks to part and maintain them can be supported by the polar of the sylvent financiers was how to bring greenbacks to seem of color of the East were produced by seem of color of the East were produced by seem of color of the East were produced by seem of color of the East were produced by that high license does not accomplish what the color of the East were produced by the par and maintain them equal with gold. Greeley's trite remark, "the way to resume is to resume," was a characteristic hit at a nut thought difficult to crack. The problem was, however, soon soived, and when brought about, it was discovered that throughout the East greenbacks, by reason of their greater convenience, were preferred to gold. On this coast, where gold for the Bestinte Reign The Destitute Rind. The bayment was never suspended, they have Academy was crowded with an audience Carter Harrison, that it was a fraud. I am

RECORD-UNION: For one, I how our people will not go to experiment with the new-fangled idea of high licer Sacramento has got enough to carry with ould pray to save his life. Cline differed that is all there is of it. If Americans think with him, and, drawing a revolver, said he that is the right thing to do, I shall be sur ould take his choice between praying and prised. The poor man ought to have jus as good a right to retail beer, wines and leans shutting out the poor man, and giv few saloons run by wholesale houses High license would shut up 150 place now bringing in rent and men employment. Will that make times better? I see by a letter in your paper this morning that a "taxpay-ing mechanic" claims high license would increase the city revenue. It might do so, but it would be at the expense of the few and that is repugnant to all sense of right and fair dealing. There may be too many saloons, but I think the question of supply and demand will regulate that business a it does all others. The increased revenu-would not equal the falling off in busines and employment from shutting up half the saloons and bars in this city. For these reasons, and because I claim it to be wrong in principle to "cinch" any lawful busiess, and because high license means an attempt at prohibition—which would be death to California—I oppose the present movement, and hope thinking men will vote and work against it. Believing you believe in fair play and a show to both ides, I ask you to publish this letter. March 2, 1886.

EDS. RECORD-UNION: "A Plain Ordishould vote against high license, because i out the sign "to let." Now, who knows this? I say let us try it. There is profit enough in liquor to pay to keep open all the saloons the people need. If we find high license so bad as is claimed, it is easy to repeal it. I call attention of voters instance where high license has worked as the enemies of it say it will. It is all assertion and no proof. On our side we give Edinburg, Tex., to the News, says: At a fandango near here, Saturday night, a desperado named Dougherty shot and killed Francisco Garcia in cold blood. The murfalled Francisco Garcia in cold blood. The murfalled? It did not do so in Los Angeles, nor in Chicago, nor in Omaha, nor in any of the towns of Illinois, nor in any of the towns of Illinois, nor in any of the towns of Illinois, nor in any of the towns of Illinois. facts and testimony of high license work

How then can refusing to license gambling, which is unlawful, be compared to licensing liquor-selling, which is lawful? In the same paper it is said that shutting up half the saloons will make hard times like a small-pox epidemic. Oh how silly! As a woman I can see, as any body must see, that a saloon does not make business. It does not produce a single cent. It takes money from our working men who drink and sends it out to Kentucky ment is given by wine cellars and brewers but there is not one of them, I am sure but can and will pay high license rates Mothers! Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Knights of Labor Memorial. Assembly No. 855, Knights of Labor, of this city, has adopted the following memorial to Congress:

rial to Congress:

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

Whereas, The problem of alleviating the distress everywhere prevalent among the laboring classes of the civilized world is universally considered the most important question of the hour a problem that has demanded and received the immediate attention of the leading governments of Europe: and whereas, owing to the displacement of labor by the invention of laborsaving machinery and to laws which foster monopoly and divide society into two hostile classes, viz. the real ruch and the real poor, the condition of the laboring people of this Republic is in many respects worse than in the countries of Europe—so deplorable, in fact, that the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the State of Illinois in its official report for the year 1882, declares as an indisputable deduction from carefully compiled statistics, that the average earnings of the heads of families for the entire list of occupations is less than the general average of the cost of living—a condition of hopeless destitution and relentless poverty that demands the immediate attention of the National Government; therefore, be it

Resolved, By the laboring men of America, in

Resolved, By the laboring men of America, in the Lodges of the Knights of Labor assembled, that we who labor in fair weather and in foul, and contribute daily and willingly to the wealth of others and of the world, are at least entitled to an opportunity of securing food for our children, the ordinary comforts of life, and α fair expectation of shelter and repose for our declining years.

National Government as an undertaking of na-tional importance and necessity, an improve-ment that will not only benefit thousands of needy men pending the construction, but one that will furnish employment for all time to come to thousands engaged in a vast system of internal water traffic between New Orleans, St. Paul and New York; that will present an insur-mountable check to the greed of monopolies; that will give cheaper bread to the East and cheaper goods to the West; that will stimulate commerce, industry and agriculture everywhere in this great republic. , questions of paramount and immediate ortance, and to act in accordance with the Gaming Cases Dismissed. In Department One of the Superior Court yesterday the cases of Maroney, Rodgers and Hurst, accused of gaming, were taken up and George Rodgers put on trial. The information against Maroney was dismissed, on motion of the District Attorney, in order that he might be used as a witness. The evidence obtained tended to show that the parties were playing an "ante" whenever a player "showed down" three or better, and the money thus taken out was dropped into a drawer in the table, to play for drinks, cigars and the cards. As there was nothing to prove that the game was one of those prohibited by law, the Court, on motion of I. S. Brown, counsel for the defendant, instructed the jury to acquit, and it did so without leaving the Court room. ing the Court-room. The case against William Hurst was then dismissed as it was evident that if Rodgers could not be convicted the result would be the same in

The Buffalo Bill Company had a good house last night in dress circle and orchestra and a packed gallery. The play presented is a melodrama, by John A. Stevens, and tells the story of a girl stolen by Indians, rescued by Buffalo Bill, torn from him by Mormons, a second time rescued and finally happily restored to her father's arms. Incidental to this plot are scenes of border life, Mormon plotting and frontier heroism—not at all improbable, by the way, and paralleled by a good many realities in the wild West, twenty years ago. The in the wild West twenty years ago. The play introduces a good Dutch character actor and a good soubrette. Buffalo Bill gives some fine examples of sharp-shoot-ing with a Winchester rifle. He presents a fine figure on the stage, and reads with fair effect. Buck Taylor, a gigantic cow-boy and a noted daring rider, poses in one or two scenes as a figure piece. Three fine-looking Pawnee Indians come on in the last act in full war paint. The play is full of action, has no literary merit whatever, out gives the character actors opportunity for some good business. Beyond this and the show of the border men and the Indians, the play is simply nothing. The leading lady is wholly incompetent. She misses every point the dramatist provided for her, and reads her lines with no more feeling, vigor or sensibility than a doll.
Had she been equal to her part, the drama would take on quite a different character.

The "Duchess" Again. The Oakland Times of yesterday had the following: "The 'Duchess,' who is well known all over this State, and especially i sions of the different classes will be head | Sacramento, has been cutting up her pe antics in Washington City among the verdant Senators. She is the most st panel game worker in the United States, as ome of our State Senators could testify they were not afraid of their wives. eral years ago she managed, it is said, to swindle our Senators out of several thou sand dollars. After the adjournment sh visited Los Angeles and made things very lively for a hotel man who had just struck it rich in an Arizona mine. Since then she has not been heard of, except on rare occasions, until the other day, when she cast her flashing black eyes around the United States Senate chamber, and began to draw on the bank accounts of innocent Senators.

He very naturally failed to appear when the case was called, and the 'Duchess' was invited by the officers to leave the city, The Republican primary election yester-the Republican primary election yester-a book on California politics."

Now For News!

We placed on sale yesterday a line of inexpensive Dress Goods, which we believe will attract more than ordinary attention. The goods in question are a reproduction of the effects seen hitherto in high-priced novelties only. They come in stylish plain colors, with fancy stripes to match, and effective costumes can be made either of the plain, the striped, or of plain and striped combined.

The distinguishing feature in these goods, however, is in the finish. Part of them are woven in close imitation of the coarse canvas cloths of French origin, while others have a fancy twill, and still others a plain serge finish.

While these stuffs are not all-wool, we believe they will render good satisfac-. tion in respect to wear.

The above things are all regular goods-being the advance guard of Spring importations. The uniform price is 25 cents per yard.

A large torchlight procession, about 500 taking part, paraded the principal streets. At the conclusion of the parade, speeches were made in front of the Concordia Hotel. It is deemed by the League a hostile act to its work, and the agitation is sure to wax warmer. The Railroad War. SAN FRANCISCO, March 2d.-There were no new features in the railroad war to-day, rates remaining the same as those that ruled yesterday. The limit of time on limited tickets has been fixed at eight days to New York, which gives two days' grace, as the through time to New York is six days. Passenger business is rather light at many offices compared with that of yesterday, which seems to indicate that most of those ready to buy at present figures have secured their tickets. There was a crowd at the corner of New Montgomery and Market streets, watching for new fig-ures to appear on the bulletin boards displayed there, and listening to the occasional invitations of agents of rival shops to step in and purchase. Should another tumble in-rates take place, there would probably be another rush of buyers. At no place fires occurred, and that they were not afraid to hang him if they said they would; also that two years ago Prewett told him (Holt) that Powers had posoned his wife and committed other misdeeds, and although it to-day could unlimited tickets be secured under the schedule rates fixed by the Southern Pacific Company, and the demand for tickets of this class has diminished very considerably. But in some instances patronage is sought to be secured by offering tickets at the rate granted to large shippers, which is about $20 less than regular schedule rates.

The war is being carried on in the freight department by the Southern Pacific Company with as much vigor as in the passenger department, the cut in freights yesterday being a deep one, making freight charges fifty cents on 100 pounds on all classes of merchandise from San Francisco to New York. This rate is made over the Sunset Route, and the low rate of seventyfive cents per 100 pounds on one class, and $1 on another class of merchandise, has been made from New York to this city.

There was to be detected to-day no sign that the railroad war was near its end, although it may be terminated at any mo ment and rates go up much faster than they went down. The meeting of railroad may agers in New York to-day may result in some change in the railroad situation.

Hall finally gave him an agreement to pay $700 out of the moneys to be received from the county, which agreement had been filed in evidence. General Bouton had no monetary interest in the matter, but had copied the agreement for him as a friendly act. Mayor Lorrey, who was interested in getting the contract for the cells, had told him, in the presence of Judge Morgan, that he had had no part in bringing about the investigation. He and Colonel Boyce, of the Times, were after Bouton, and not Mott. Other evidence was submitted, going to show that BUTTER—The market continues in soft condition, and prices have touched a still lower level. Occasionally a sale is made at a trifling advance on our fancy quotation, but such trade is exceptional, and cannot be accepted as an index of the situation. Among other influences that tend to depress the market may be noted the increase in the dairy output of the State, which is said to be a little heavier than last year from the southern counties and one-third greater from Marin county. Another unfavorable circumstance is the fact that oulets are less numerous than formerly, local supplies coming nearer to filling the wants of many places that formerly purchased liberally in the San Francisco market. Then, again, the present reduction in railroad freights gives prospect of Eastern Butter selling here at 2@3c p b lower than last season.
